Employee of the Month

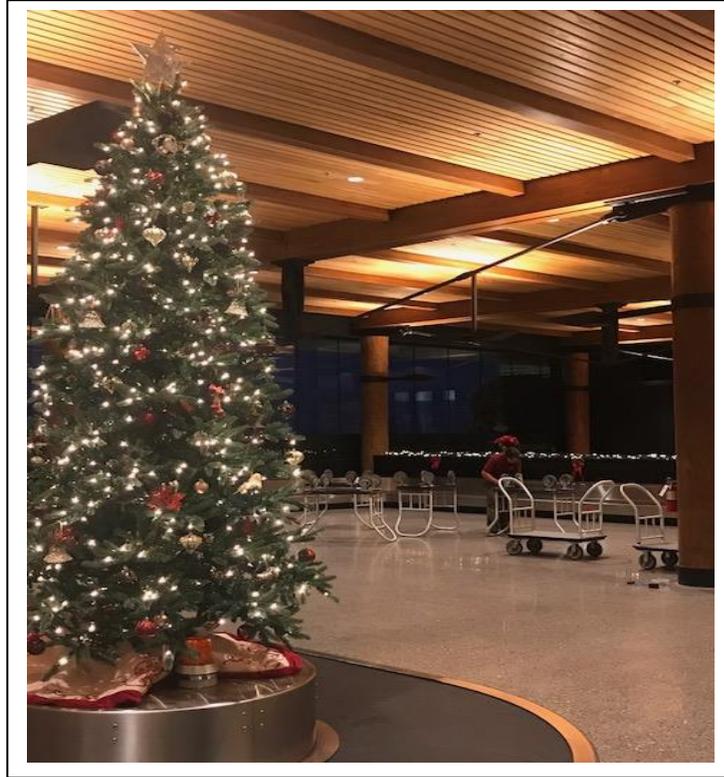

Chance Grimm was recognized as the Employee of the Month for March. Chance was presented the award for his desire to work hard as a team player at the Airport. No matter how big or small the task, Chance is always willing to dive in at any time to help keep the airport operating smoothly. Thank you and congratulations Chance!

Green Fact: Have you ever filled your water bottle at one of our hydration stations?

Our hydration stations save thousands of single use water bottles every year. In 2016, the hydration stations poured 74,262 refills. Whoa!

What does “People Helping People” mean to you?

Working in the travel industry has us interacting with different types of people on many levels every day. In essence, it is our job to help people. How we help these people reflects not only on our organization, but our industry as a whole.

Her at JAC, we embrace the “People Helping People” mantra. You may have heard this phrase in a training session or a meeting, but what does this mantra mean to you? We take pride in ourselves for helping people as a part of our regular job duties, but what about raising the level of customer service in Jackson Hole as many of us do?

In the picture shown above, Rick Konrad diligently prepares for the holiday rush by giving the luggage carts a tune-up. Rick’s manager didn’t ask him to complete this task. Rick noticed the carts needed some “love” and took the initiative to complete the project before the winter surge. Even though Rick wasn’t physically interacting with people, he was clearly embracing “People Helping People”.

We want to see how the staff goes above and beyond every day to help our customers. If you see a co-worker or stakeholder really showing off their “People Helping People” skills, please snap a picture or write a quick excerpt and email it to megan.jenkins@jhairport.org and we will add a new section in the newsletter to highlight these shout-outs!

Any road or pathway closure dates will be confirmed approximately one week in advance of the closure via media release, roadside signs, park road information phone line, park website and park social media. These include:

- Grand Teton National Park Road Information Line at 307-739-3682,

- Twitter Grand Teton National Park @GrandTetonNPS
